

Welcome to Stuttgart!

You want to know
what we are protesting against?

Against the underground
main station (under construction)

“Stuttgart 21”:

- It will have half as many tracks as the one we already have.
- In the event of a fire, there would possibly be no survivors.
- In the case of heavy rain, it would act like a dam, preventing water from flowing away naturally.
- The intention is to make room for a new City District - in the middle of Stuttgart's most important fresh air corridor!
- The tracks from the present terminal station are to be removed, although this station is one of the best in Germany.
- The construction of the new one has cost 11 billion euros so far. This money is urgently needed for the railways throughout Germany.

We have been demonstrating against this in Stuttgart!

- every Monday
- already over 700 Mondays since 2009
- at times up to 100.000 people taking part

We have a better idea than "Stuttgart 21":

- Not use the tunnels that have already been built for trains, but use them for fully-automated goods-transport from the outskirts to the city!
- Modernize the above-ground "old" terminal station!
- Convert the underground station, currently under construction, into a central bus station directly under the tracks, parking space for car and bicycles, bicycle repair shops and the like
